WESTERN TANZANIA- MOYOWOSI & MALAGARASI RIVER

CTC T&C's apply- Prices subject to change

Located close to the border of Burundi in the western reaches of Tanzania, resting comfortably on the edge of a plateau, is the 6,000 square kilometre Moyowosi Game Reserve. The Moyowosi Reserve is contiguous with Kigosi Game Reserve and is divided by the Moyowosi River and its affluent. Moyowosi is chiefly a floodplain wetland habitat, recently declared a RAMSAR Wetland of international importance. Gazetted in 1981, Moyowosi now provides a sanctuary for wildlife and migratory birds during the dry season.

The riverways are home to crocodiles and hippos and tiger fish. Miombo woodlands and swamp regions provide a refuge for rare sitatunga antelopes, “dagga boys” and breeding water-birds. The easiest way to access the reserve is via a scheduled flight departing from Dar es Salaam to the main area of Kigosi. Adventurous visitors can self-drive in a 4WD into the reserve.

Best tiger fishing in the remote Malagarasi River.

MOYOWOSI GAME RESERVE:

An untamed wilderness that beckons the bold. We offer exclusive access to this vast and pristine 2 million-acre paradise, where wildlife roams freely across the untouched terrain. With four coveted concessions, this reserve guarantees a truly remote and wild hunting experience unlike any other.

Nestled in the heart of Moyowosi Game Reserve, which spans an impressive 11,430 km<sup>2</sup>, this wilderness was established in 1981 after upgrading the Moyowosi Game Controlled Area. Its name originates from the Ha tribe, who call it "Muyovozi," meaning "a huge river which flows throughout the year and is difficult to cross" – a fitting tribute to the Moyowosi River, the lifeblood of the reserve. European explorers, unable to pronounce "Muyovozi," simplified it to the now-familiar "Moyowosi." The river not only provides vital water to the area's abundant wildlife, but it also serves as the reserve's very heart, coursing through the landscape to sustain its thriving ecosystem.

This hidden gem is located in the remote regions of Kibondo and Kakonko Districts in the Kigoma Region, in the far west of Tanzania. Bordering the Kigosi National Park to the north, Moyowosi is part of the expansive Ugalla – Moyowosi/Kigosi-Malagarasi ecosystem, a sprawling wilderness teeming with biodiversity.

In this wild haven, diverse vegetation types flourish – from miombo woodlands to open grasslands, as well as the short grasses that line the majestic Moyowosi and Malagarasi Rivers. A true sanctuary for wildlife, this area offers visitors an unparalleled opportunity to connect with nature at its purest.

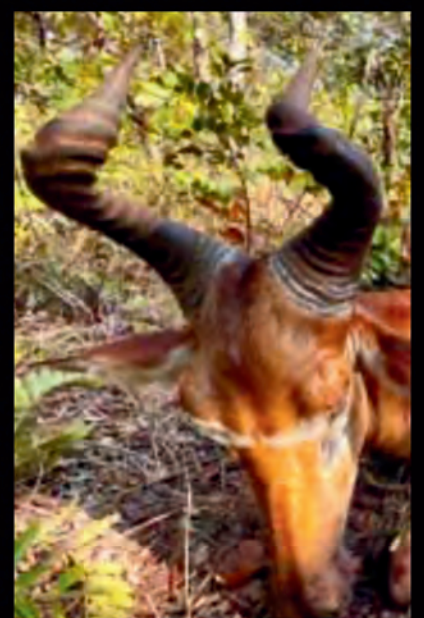

Moyowosi is home to rolling hills, sweeping plains, and an elevation range of 800 to 1,600 meters above sea level, creating the perfect environment for a variety of wildlife species. Whether you're a passionate hunter, a wildlife enthusiast, or an avid angler, this expansive game reserve offers something for everyone.

To complement your adventure, we offers two luxury hunting camps and an additional fishing camp, which also doubles as a third hunting base. Each camp provides exceptional comfort and exclusivity in the midst of this vast wilderness, ensuring that your experience is as extraordinary as the surroundings.

With its rare combination of untamed wilderness, luxury accommodations, and wildlife abundance, Moyowosi Game Reserve is the ultimate destination for those seeking the thrill of the hunt, the serenity of nature, and the adventure of a lifetime.

Are you ready to step into the wild?

Luangwa Valley:

Without doubt, the Luangwa Valley is recognised as one of Africa's premier hunting destinations. South Luangwa National Park is the country's flagship national park known for its leopard sightings and concentrated hippo herds of the receding Luangwa River waters during the dry season. The valley lies between the impressive Muchinga escarpment and Nyika Plateau. The river banks are shaded by large, Vachellia trees (formerly Acacia trees), ebony and mahogany trees, whilst the interior open savanna habitats are dominated by mopane woodland and scrublands. Elephant, lion, leopard, buffalo and limited number of sable and roan antelope are the iconic species hunted in the region.

Kafue Region:

This Kafue River and Kafue Flats region are named after the Kafue River which drains into the Zambezi River near the border town of Chirundu. The flats when flooded creates the most perfect Kafue lechwe habitat and wetlands attracting a variety of aquatic birds. The rest of the region is covered by miombo woodlands and well adapted to the many bushfires that flare up in the region. Game populations in some GMAs have declined due to poaching problems.

Bangweulu Swamps:

This +6,000 km<sup>2</sup> swamp has been declared one of the world's most important wetlands and home to three sought after African aquatic species, black lechwe, Kafue lechwe and sitatunga. Of the three species, the sitatunga is the most difficult to hunt. Lookout platforms are purposely built to overlook the huge papyrus reedbeds and stretches of open water to patiently wait for a suitable trophy to break cover from the reeds to feed on the aquatic vegetation growing along the fringes of the impenetrable reedbeds.

ZAMBIA GENERAL INFORMATION

HUNTING SEASON

The Zambian hunting season runs from the beginning of May to the end of November. This is mostly the dry season in Zambia. Temperatures vary during the dry season from mild to very hot and in June, July and August the Kafue experiences cool to cold mornings and evenings.

We do however consider June through to end of September to be our prime hunting months. Although October has good hunting, the tempraturte can be very high and in November there is a chance of rain.

FIREARMS

We recommend that all clients bring a minimum caliber of .375 or more for larger dangerous game (buffalo and Lion) and a 300 Win Mag. or similar caliber rifle for Leopard and plains game species. A good quality variable scope preferably with red dot illumination is recommended for rifles – especially where cats will be hunted in low light conditions.

Importation of ammunition into Zambia is regulated to 100 rounds per rifle and 200 rounds per shotgun. Please note that a non - refundable Excise Duty is payable on all ammunition being brought into Zambia at a rate of US $4 per round.

Firearm import permits must be obtained before your arrival. It is imperative to ensure we are supplied well in advance of the correct make and serial numbers of the rifles you will be using. Errors on the firearm permit will lead to refusal of temporary import of firearms by the Zambian Authorities. The amount of ammunition stipulated on the permit may not be varied once the license is issued.

BOOKINGS AND PAYMENTS

Deposit of 50% of booking estimate on date of booking and the full payment of your safari 90 days prior to your arrival date. Trophy fees and other miscellaneous expenses not included in your estimate will need to be settled on completion of your safari so that we can comply with the national parks authorities requirement that all monies are paid and essential paperwork lodged with them within 14 days of the completion of your safari, this ultimately circumvents any delays in the shipping of your trophies.

PLEASE NOTE: Only US$ cash is accepted for payments due at the end of the hunt for additional species hunted and tips. Wire transfers can be made prior to the hunt. This will avoid traveling with large sums of cash. Bank charges on wire transfers shall be for the clients' account. All charges quoted are subject to change.

Travel days used for movement between hunting areas are counted as hunting days and any client accommodation required in Lusaka during the safari will be for the client's account.

HEALTH:

An anti-malarial course should be taken three weeks prior to arrival in Zambia and terminated six weeks after your return. We suggest that you consult your doctor regarding the prophylactics required. Please ensure that we are informed before your arrival about any health or dietary needs. It is highly recommended that all clients have an international travel and health insurance which would include evacuation out of the safari area and Zambia should an emergency arise.

Notes: Some species requires driving to other concessions. Prices are subject to change without notice. Cape to Cairo Terms and Conditions Apply.
